HAND-LIST OF ADDITIONS TO THE COLLECTION
OF LATIN MANUSCRIPTS IN THE JOHN RYLANDS LIBRARY, 1908-1920.

BY ROBERT FAWTIER, AGREGÉ D'HISTOIRE, ANCIEN MEMBRE DE L'ÉCOLE FRANÇAISE DE ROME, ASSISTANT KEEPER OF MANUSCRIPTS IN THE JOHN RYLANDS LIBRARY.

THE manuscripts dealt with in the present hand-list to the number of 149, represent the additions to the Latin section of the Western Manuscripts in the John Rylands Library which have been acquired since 1908.

More elaborate descriptions of the items included are in active preparation, and will furnish the subject matter of the third volume of the Descriptive Catalogue of Latin Manuscripts . . . of which the first two volumes, compiled by Dr. M. R. James, will be published shortly. It is feared, however, that some time must elapse before the third volume can be placed in the hands of the printer, in consequence of the constantly increasing cost of printing, and for that reason it has been thought desirable, in the meantime, to issue in the present form some brief description of the contents of the various volumes, for the information of scholars who may be interested in this department of research.

Although many of these MSS. have been acquired through the medium of the trade and other agencies, it has been possible to ascribe
a great part of them to the following sources :—

(a) The library of Sir Thomas Phillipps : Nos. 188 [Ph. 445], 189
[Ph. 1245], 194 [Ph. 765], 200 [Ph. 599], 213 [Ph. 13567], 214
[Ph. 3874 and 13556], 215 [Ph. 8139], 219 [Ph. 6478], 220-221
[Ph. 8135], 222 [Ph. 6478], 223 [Ph. 21708], 227 [Ph. 15734
and 16909], 228 [Ph. 25136], 229 [Ph. 31957], 242 [Ph. 1317], 243 [Ph. 20098], 249 [Ph. 26076], 250 [Ph. 25387], 253 [Ph.
29791], 255 [Ph. 9617].
(b) The library of Mr. George Dunn, of Woolley Hall, near Maidenhead, Bucks: Nos. 190, 193, 199, 203, 204, 206, 211, 216, 217.

(c) The Library of Lord Vernon: Nos. 198, 209.

(d) The royal account-books contained in Nos. 230-241 were acquired from Major Heneage, Coker Court, near Yeovil, Somerset. Evidently they came into the possession of the Heneage family through either Thomas Heneage, a vice-chamberlain of Queen Elizabeth's household and a treasurer of the Queen's chamber, or his brother, Michael Heneage, both having been at the same time Keepers of the Records in the Tower of London.

(e) The group which we designate as the Squire MSS. (Nos. 224, 252, 258-332) was found in the vault of a solicitor's office in Lincoln's Inn. The fact that they fall into three series of 22, 28, and 26 MSS. respectively, and that amidst many transcripts of records preserved at the time in the Tower and other repositories we find such early manuscripts as Nos. 224 and 252, seems to indicate that we have here a collection, and very likely a complete one, made by some antiquary.

The covers of seven MSS. (No. 289, 290, 291, 294, 316, 317, 322) bear the coat of arms of the Squire family, two of these add to the coat of arms the initials S.S., various other MSS. of the collection contain sundry notes concerning Scipio Squire, his house in Long Acre, his wife Elizabeth, etc. We are justified therefore in ascribing if not the whole, at least the original nucleus of this collection to Scipio Squire, a vice-chamberlain of the Treasury of the Exchequer in the time of Kings James I and Charles I, who seems to have acquired some fame as a genealogist, but whose name will be remembered chiefly as that of the man through whom William Dugdale obtained access to the Domesday Book and to other records such as the Fines and the Plea-Rolls.

Scipio Squire is not well known. The Dictionary of National Biography does not record his name, and the little information we have been able to collect does not throw great light on his life. May we hope that the hint we are able to give will induce some scholar to look into the records of the Exchequer and give us some account of his public career.

He was born in 1579, very likely in Devon at King’s Nympton, the son of Edmund Squire of King’s Nympton, third son of George Squire of Leyhall (co. Staffs.), and Martha, second daughter of Mark Slader of Bath (co. Devon). When eighteen years old he left his family home, and with the blessing of both his parents started for London. He entered New Inn and was a student there for four years. In 1603 he was introduced to Sir John Doddridge, one of his countrymen, and when this lawyer, whose lectures he had perhaps attended at New Inn, was appointed a Judge of the King’s Bench in 1612, young Squire became his Marshal. In November, 1620, he entered the King's service, very likely in the Exchequer office, but retained the Marshalship of Mr. Justice Doddridge till the latter's death in 1628.¹ In 1631 we find him called before the Commissioners for Buildings in connection with a house he was erecting to dwell in in Long Acre "on the north side over against Covent Garden".² In April, 1632, the house was built and Scipio Squire moved in, at least, this was the time at which he moved his books and put them on the shelves of his new study, writing at the same time a catalogue of them, which is preserved in one of our MSS.³ The catalogue shows us that Scipio Squire was a very broad-minded man of many interests. On the shelves of his study the poets were neighbours of the philosophers and of the old chronicles as well as of divines and mathematicians. Some of the Shakespeare quartos were there, of which one (not in the catalogue) has survived, the Pericles, Prince of Tyre, which was for some time in the Huth Library, and which bears on the title-page the name of Scipio Squire and the date, 3 May, 1609.⁴

Some time before this removal Squire had suffered a loss in the person of his wife Francis, daughter of Sir Hugh Brawne of Newington catalogued in separate part. Of this marriage he had issues: John, who died when a little more than a year old, George, who entered the Inner Temple, and two daughters Francis and Bethsheba.

Scipio Squire married again, for we know that in August, 1656, he bought for his wife Elizabeth "a diamond knot, 60 diamonds" for £38, and some other jewels. That he could spend such a large sum for jewels would suffice to show that he was wealthy, even if we did not know that Sir Hugh Pollard owed to him in 1650 the sum of £2000.

His name appears twice in what is published of William Dugdale's
Correspondence: once in 1650 in a letter of Dugdale to William Venman, another in 1653 in a letter of Sir Symon Archer to Dug-dale. The latter, in his autobiography, has recorded the kindness shown to him by Scipio Squire, to whom he had been introduced by

Remarks on the Estate:—
Scipio le Squire begs to compound for debts of £2000, owing him by Sir H. Pollard, who has long "borne him in hand" that he would compound for his delinquency and pay petitioner his debt.

8vo, pp. 190-191.
Mr. Roper, in giving him access to the records preserved in the Treasury of the Exchequer and of which, we may presume, Scipio Squire was the keeper. We do not know when he became a vice-chamberlain of the Exchequer. The fact that in 1656 we find a Justice of Peace of the City of Westminster acting in two weddings in the parish of St. Paul, Covent Garden (the church of an inhabitant of Long Acre), bearing the name of Scipio le Squire allows us to invest our antiquary with this new dignity. This is the last information we can find concerning him. That a letter addressed to a Mr. Scipio le Squire at his house in Long Acre in June, 1682, is to be found in one of our MSS. can scarcely lead us to believe that our Scipio Squire was still living. We prefer to advance the theory that of his second marriage he had a son named after him.

It is difficult to state in this collection how much is Scipio Squire's and how much is derived from some other source. Some manuscripts like No. 330 are matters of serious difficulty. We shall endeavour to deal with them in the fuller catalogue; all we have attempted to do for the present is to throw some light on the original owner of a rather large section of the new accessions.

The manuscripts have been classified according to their contents. For each manuscript we have given the title, when there is one, found in the manuscript itself. When no title is given, we have assigned one to indicate their content as briefly as possible. The number [R . . . ] is the accession number, the second number is the Latin MSS. number. When a further number is given in brackets [ ], it is the number that was assigned to the manuscript before any attempt at classification was made. These particulars have been included in case scholars who have had access to the collection already may have quoted them by their old number.

1 Op. cit., p. 12. “So likewise was he [W. Dugdale] introduced by the sayd Mr. Roper into the acquaintance of Mr. Scipio Squyer, then one of the vice-chamberlains of the Exchequer, through whose kindness, and favour he had accesse to that venerable Record called Domesday Booke, as also to the Fines, Plea-rolls, and sundry other records remayning in the Treasury there.”
